

Ireland was just amazing. I was there for two months and was blown away with the scenery, music, and the people. I played with some really great musicians throughout the entire country and have gained some excellent friendships. In good fortune I was also given an opportunity to play with an Irish group in Gennetines, France for Le Grand Bal De l'Europe. This is Europe's largest dance festival and is a week long extravaganza of music and some serious dancing.